SETTLER RANCHER DIES, POLICE MAKE SOME ARRESTS

Victim of Shooting Affray Succumbs to Injuries at Midnight

POLICE TO MAKE THREE ARRESTS ON SUSPICION

Cartier, Another Rancher, First Man Arrested, But Protests Innocence of Affair.

Settler, March 25. (Special to the Capital).—After twenty-six hours of intense pain, caused by the bullet wound which he received in the back while sitting with friends in his home near Buffalo Lake, William Lennox, a wealthy horsefancier of the district, died in the town hospital a few minutes before twelve o'clock last evening. A few hours before his death, a rancher with whom the murdered man had a dispute some time before the occurrence of the tragedy, had been arrested by the mounted police on suspicion. Cartier may be released on bail.

This morning another settler of the district was arrested on suspicion. The police effected the arrest some miles out of town and refused to divulge the name of the man. They are scouring the country in search of information which may lead to the identification of the criminal, and it is their intention to arrest two other men on suspicion. These men have disappeared since the tragedy occurred, and this circumstance has led the authorities to suspect that one or both of these parties may have been implicated in the crime.

Cartier was arrested at his home near Buffalo Lake, in the vicinity of the home of the murdered man. He had made no attempt to escape from the district, and protests his innocence.

An inquest has been ordered, and this morning the coroner's jury viewed the body of Lennox, and adjourned. They will meet again on Monday.

No motive for the crime has been suggested, beyond the dispute between Cartier and Lennox. It seems apparent that malice and that alone can have actuated the assassin.

William Lennox was perhaps the wealthiest rancher in the district, and his assassination by an unknown murderer has driven the neighborhood into a frenzy. No other topic is discussed, and the excitement has become widespread. The widow of the murdered man is heartbroken, and has been a state of collapse since his death occurred last night. She watched over him at his bedside until the end, hearing up to the last moment that he had breathed his last.

The police are reluctant, and decline to make any statement, as to the identity of the man whose arrest they seek to effect, or upon the course of their investigations. Inspector Worsley and Constable Kindrick are prosecuting the investigations.

LOCAL

"The Strangers' Sabbath Home," First Baptist church; Rev. F. W. Patterson, minister. Special evangelistic service at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Mr. Patterson will preach at both services. The ordinance of Christian baptism will be administered at the evening service.

Among the settlers who registered at the immigration office at Edmonton, Robert Smith, of Manchester, England, a newspaperman who gave up a position on the Manchester daily, and came to Edmonton to pursue a Canadian career. William Burke, proprietor of the Hub cigar store which burned down on December 5, was up for trial in the police court yesterday afternoon, on a charge of false pretences. He was accused of doing away with his stock of cigars, saved from the fire, when this stock should have been made over to his creditors, in payment for debts.

The Ladies' Aid of the Wesley Methodist church on Fourteenth street, will hold a sale of work, and home made cooking in the old McDougall church on March 30th.

STEAMER GOES DOWN WITH ALL ON BOARD

MAJORITY OF PASSENGERS WERE LABORERS BOUND FOR THE CANADIAN NORTHERN CONSTRUCTION CAMP AT HEDNAR BAY—CREW ALSO LOST

Victoria, March 25.—With thirty-two passengers and crew on board, steamer Seclac, a small sheltered coast steamer, operating between Victoria and Snook, by British Columbia Shipping Company, capsized off the coast last night. It is believed that all on board are lost. The Seclac left yesterday afternoon, with thirty-two passengers mostly laborers bound for the Canadian Northern construction camp at Hednar Bay and crew of four men.

TO BUILD ONE HUNDRED MILES THIS YEAR

The Alberta Central railway which is building west from Red Deer into the coal fields of the Brazeau, will construct 100 miles of line this year.

J. Carlyle Moore, solicitor for the company, is in the city today and is a guest at the Cecil.

The Alberta Central came into prominence in its fight against the Canadian Northern for prior location of route west of Red Deer into the Brazeau, during the session of the legislature last fall. The C. N. R. is building west from Stettler almost parallel to the Alberta Central.

The contract has been let for 100 miles of the Alberta Central and construction will be started as early as possible.

PROPOSED INSPECTION OF ALL FOODS SOLD IN CITY

BOARD OF HEALTH DISCUSSES APPOINTMENT OF QUALIFIED INSPECTOR TO REGULATE THE BAKERIES

The appointment of a qualified veterinarian, to act as inspector of all foods sold in the city, with the exception of milk, will be recommended to the council by the board of health as the outcome of a resolution carried at the regular board meeting last evening. Veterinary surgeons may take a course in work of this character when qualifying for the profession, and it is considered essential that a man who has expert knowledge of food inspection should be appointed to the position.

A report upon the regulation of bakeries, will be submitted by a committee of the board, Mr. W. H. Collins and Mr. Harlan, with a view to its use as the basis of a bakery by-law. The bylaw will subsequently be brought before the commissioners with a view to its consideration by the council. A number of members of the board recommended that all bread sold to the public should be suitably wrapped in paper, as is the practice in New York and many other cities which have given this subject attention.

Comers who have been in the habit of pitching their tents on lots paid which sewer and water mains are laid will not have that privilege this season. There is on the city statute practice, and this year it will be enforced, by-law which prohibits this forced.

OBTAIN SERVICES OF BIG EXPERT

New Cement Industry Will Be in Charge of the Best Material That Is Procured

P. J. Klossowski, the cement expert who is to report upon the cement on the property of the new Edmonton cement works, since his death occurred last night. She watched over him at his bedside until the end, hearing up to the last moment that he had breathed his last.

The police are reluctant, and decline to make any statement, as to the identity of the man whose arrest they seek to effect, or upon the course of their investigations. Inspector Worsley and Constable Kindrick are prosecuting the investigations.

STRIKE OF MINERS IS NOW ASSURED

Operators and Men in South Okanagan Agree to Meet on March 31st

A strike of coal miners in Southern Alberta is now assured. Realizing that they could not come to terms, the representatives of the United Mine Workers' Union, and of the mine owners association definitely declared their conference off yesterday afternoon, and the result will undoubtedly be one of the biggest strikes in the history of coal mining in the south.

The miners have practically agreed that they will strike on the night of March 31, when the present agreement with the owners expires.

No one knows how long the strike will last, and the public will be the biggest sufferers. There is little coal stored in the south, and it will be less than a week after the strike is effected, and nearly 150 mines are closed.

There are about 16 companies affected, and nearly 150 mines are closed.

The sale of King George Park lots, which are situated south of the city, is now assured. ORGANIZE COMPANY TO PROMOTE BIG INDUSTRY

Edmonton to Be Headquarters of Syndicate to Handle the Project

INCLUDES CAPITALISTS OF FOUR WESTERN PROVINCES

Cement Manufacturers and Coal Mining May Be Included in Industries to Be Established.

Prominent business men in the four western provinces, will shortly form a huge promotion company, with headquarters at Edmonton, for the purpose of promoting certain industries in the Edmonton district.

This statement was made to the Capital this morning by Alan Haines, of New York, who is in the city organizing a syndicate of cement company, among city business men, and who will interest himself also in the promotion of other industries.

Mr. Haines states that there are several good propositions for new industries in the vicinity of Edmonton that may be taken over and organized by the new syndicate in which will be represented capital from all four provinces.

"All this district needs is some good sensible promotion," said Mr. Haines, "and the syndicate will be able to do this."

NEGRO COLONY ARRIVES AND WILL FARM NEAR LANDING

GOVERNMENT WILL NOT INTERFERE IN MINERS' STRIKE IN SOUTH.

The provincial government will not interfere between the miners and the mine operators, in the strike that is pending in the southern mines, as a result of the contending parties failing to come to terms over the miners' demands.

The miners are expected to walk out of nearly 120 mines in the south on March 31st. That the strike will be a serious one for the public goes without saying.

In view of this the premier was asked this morning if the provincial government would take any action in connection with the strike. The premier's answer was in the negative.

TWO DEAD, SOME INJURED IN WRECK NEAR SCHREIBER

C. P. R. SETTLERS' TRAINS COLLIDE AT FULL SPEED—ENGINES DEMOLISHED AND SETTLERS' EFFECTS ARE RUINED

Port Arthur, March 25.—Two are known to be dead, one is missing, one fatally injured and three of four others seriously injured as the result of a collision early this morning between two trains on the C.P.R. one mile east of Schreiber at what is known as Blue Jay siding. The trains in collision were one of the empty passenger coaches being sent east to handle the immigration traffic, and a colonist train of settlers effects from eastern Ontario. The two came together at a point where it was impossible for the engineers to see each other until within a few hundred feet and as both were running at high rate of speed impact was such as to completely demolish both engines, besides two coaches and two box cars. Immediately following the collision the wreckage took fire, adding to the difficulty of the rescue work, and probably causing the death of O. H. Bush, train porter on the east bound, who is among the missing. A salvation army officer is also among the missing and is estimated that he too is dead. T. E. Robinson, of New Market, Ont., going west with eight horses and farm supplies lost, everything Fireman Burgess was burned to a cinder in the pan of the east bound engine.

There are altogether about thirty cars in the ditch and communication with the west bound train is cut off. The wreck was a mistake in interpretation of orders which were for the trains to pass at Blue Jay siding, but the stock train got lost in some way. Schreiber is the home of all the trainmen.

The men are strong and healthy, the half full of rolling tumbling passengers were for food, a promising generation. Old Daddy Snid is a wise soul, and it was mostly due to his wise words that the men crossed the border. "There ain't nothin' the matter with us, mister," he told a reporter, "Sick? Ah! like you, you're a new one. We have any sick people?"

"We are men," he said, "to take up homesteads in Saskatchewan as soon as our effects arrive. We have all our implements and horses and wagons, and we're ready to go to work straight. All of our men has farmed all their lives."

"If you're like this country," he asked the reporter of the girl who was evidently the belle of the party, a little, graceful female with plumed hat, "you'll like it here. It's a good one. 'Ah! like this, so far,' she said with a flashing smile, and a rolling of her eyes. 'Ah! like this, it's a lot warmer than we thought it'd be.'"

The new settlers are mild looking fellows, with sparse smiles and sunny countenances. The majority of them are well dressed, and have money in their pockets. It was not a poor lot that could not be found.

Engineer Latorelli submitted to the dominion engineers two alternative plans, each of which provides for a clearance of 20 feet between high water level of the river, and the lower Mr. Goodspeed fears will be insufficient, and he now suggests that clearance of 26 feet be allowed when the east end bridge is constructed.

Engineer Latorelli advised that such may be the case, and asking that an additional seven feet of clearance, beyond the clearance allowed for in the original plans, be provided when the east end bridge is constructed.

The plans which were submitted the week provided for two designs of steel work. There were no differences in the essentials of construction.

Mr. F. G. Haldane reports having received a number of good offers for his west end 240 acre tract. This property adjoins Jasper Place on the west. It being eligible for a large sub-division.

Much-Talked-of Party of Blacks Reach City Before Dawn This Morning

HEALTHY, HAPPY, HUSKY MEN WITH MONEY

Have Brought Seven Carloads of Effects and Live Stock All the Way from Oklahoma.

The much-talked-of negro colony from Oklahoma for the Edmonton district, having arrived in the city. Herald throughout the entire journey, had more widespread publicity than they would have received had they been the latest thing in minstrel shows, with a live audience man, the party of 150, with the migration had by storm at two o'clock this morning, and since early dawn have been attracting much attention as the better dressed of the party paraded the streets.

There are nearly 100 heads of families in the party, and they have enough money to pay the way for themselves and for seven cars of effects and live stock all the way from Oklahoma, with plenty left over to give them a good start on the farms that they will take up near Athabasca Landing.

The seven cars of effects will reach the city in a day or two.

The men of the party feel proud over the fact that they overcame the strong opposition of the immigration authorities at the border, where the party were held up for two days and a night, while the officials tried to trump up some charge against them to send them packing back to Oklahoma.

Daddy Snid, who spied out the land up here last summer for this colony, is the head of the party, and the bunch of blacks that is heading into the promised land are a healthy looking lot.

The men are strong and healthy, the half full of rolling tumbling passengers were for food, a promising generation. Old Daddy Snid is a wise soul, and it was mostly due to his wise words that the men crossed the border.

STRATHCONA POST OFFICE WILL BE STARTED AT ONCE

URGENT REQUESTS HAVE RESULTS—LARGE TRANS-ACTIONS TAKING PLACE IN BUSINESS SITES

Strathcona, March 25.—In response to the resolutions forwarded to Ottawa last week by the city council, board of trade and the Liberal Association, urging immediate action on the part of the government on the building of a new post office at Strathcona, Mr. Douglas wrote back yesterday saying that he does not anticipate any tie up of money before the government prompt steps to lay the necessary expenditure before the government, previous to the resolutions to "line him" and that he had reasons to believe that the government would not be slow in taking action on the matter.

5 YEAER OLD TOT MURDERED BY FIEND

Man Rents Room and Lures Child Into It—Vanishes Mysteriously and Description of Him is Only Clue.

Portland, Ore., March 22.—Bearing marks of one of the most cruel and heartless murders ever recorded in this city, the body of little Barbara Holtzman, a 5 year old girl, was found on a blood-stained bed in a rooming house at 1607 Russell street shortly before noon today by Mrs. Gertrude Nelson, proprietress.

The murdered little girl was the daughter of Volentin Holtzman, a mechanic, who lives within a few blocks of the rooming house. The little girl was sent to the butcher shop yesterday afternoon to make some purchases and never returned.

Mrs. Nelson says that an unidentified man rented a room from her at 9:45 last night and that she is sure to find it at Kelly & Moore's.

FOR SKIN IRRITATION

We Guarantee Relief. Your Money Back If Not Satisfied.

We have an ointment possessing extraordinary power to permanently relieve all forms of eczema, skin eruptions, pimples, blotches, ringworm, acne, tetter, scaly scalp, hives, all forms of itching and irritation caused by insect bites. Its power to soothe ulcers, sores and wounds is very pronounced.

We are so positive that Rosall Eczema Ointment is unequalled for overcoming these ailments that we sell it with our personal promise that it will not set the user anything unless it in every way gives satisfaction. We expect no promises and in no way obligate the purchaser. You must admit that we could not afford to make such a broad liberal guarantee, except we are certain we could substantiate our claim.

Rosall Eczema Ointment is a grayish white, pleasant smelling, antiseptic, cooling healing salve that is strongly germicidal. It destroys the germs that penetrate the skin and cause eczema and other tormenting skin ailments. A remedy must do that to be effective, for in no other way can such diseases be overcome.

Rosall Eczema Ointment is ideal for the treatment of skin irritations peculiar to children, for arber's itch, and for sore itching feet. It is positively the best remedy we know of, and we urge you to try it at our risk. Two sizes, 50c, and $1.00. —The Rosall Store, A. Archibald.

yesterday morning and although he seemed to be somewhat mysterious in his actions, Mrs. Nelson did not suspect anything wrong until today when she went to the room to see what had become of the lodger.

She found the door locked and the key removed. This fact aroused her suspicions and the door was burst open. There huddled on the bed, almost entirely covered by the bed clothes, was the partially disrobed body of the little girl.

A bloody froth covered the little one's nostrils, indicating she had been choked, and when Mrs. Nelson pulled off the bed clothing, indications of a worse crime were revealed. The bed under the little body was blood-soaked and the little legs and torso were covered with the life blood of the child.

Parents Collapse
As soon as she had recovered from the first terrible shock of discovery, Mrs. Nelson rushed to the street and summoned neighbors and the police. From the first it was almost positive that the little body was that of Barbara Holtzman, the missing girl. Her parents were summoned and soon the terrible truth was brought home to them that their little child had met death at the hands of a fiend. The father was almost beside himself with grief and anguish, and the mother utterly collapsed.

Doesn't Know When He Left

Mrs. Nelson says the man who is suspected of committing the crime came to her place at 9:45 o'clock yesterday morning and inquired for a room. After he was assigned to one he was not in evidence again except at about midnight, when Mrs. Nelson heard what was apparently some object falling to the floor and she suspected that her lodger had fallen, but footsteps pacing up and down the room soon indicated that nothing serious had happened. She was unable to see when the man left the house. She waited nearly all the morning to hear from him and then decided to investigate the reason for his non-appearance.

Evidently Planned Crime

Mrs. Nelson described the suspected man as being about 45 years of age, with a gray mustache. He was neatly dressed and appeared not to be in the best of health. That the man evidently carefully prepared to commit the crime on some child is indicated by the fact that he rented the room for only one day. So far as can be learned no one saw the man take the child into the house, and Mrs. Nelson has no idea when the assault and murder occurred.

Governor Martin F. Ansel, of South Carolina, and Governor W. W. Kitchen, of North Carolina, recently met at Louisville, Kentucky, and issued the following joint statement.

"It has been learned that the governor of North Carolina said to the governor of South Carolina: 'It is a long time between drinks.' No such statement was ever made. The fact as told by an eye-witness of that famous meeting brand the whole story as a fabrication.

"This is what really happened: the governor of North Carolina said to the governor of South Carolina, 'Remember the fate of Montgomery?' 'Well, who in it was Montgomery?' asked the governor of South Carolina. 'He was the man who died between drinks,' replied the governor of North Carolina."

GREAT PRIZE CONTEST

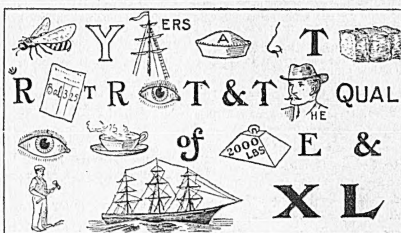

At the beginning of this year we perfected a plan with our manufacturers, by which they are to help us in advertising the instruments we handle, and to extend our business by extending operations throughout the entire Province of Alberta. Our ambition is to do a large volume of business, with the least possible expense, and to make THE MASTERS PIANO CO. a household word throughout our territory. With this object in view, we have placed an order for the largest number of Pianos ever given by any one firm in Western Canada, and have decided to dispense with the usual newspaper publicity, and give our customers the direct benefit of a large advertising fund, which will be of Special Interest to every person in need of a Piano who reads this advertisement.

Contest Open to Everyone Free

Read the Conditions Carefully

To the first five persons who send in the correct or nearest correct reading of the above Rebus, we will issue a due bill for $125, good to apply at face value on any New Piano in our stock. To each of the next ten whose reply is the nearest correct, we will issue a due bill for $115. To each of the next twenty-five a due bill for $100. To each of the next twenty-five a due bill for $80, to each of the next twenty-five a due bill for $50, and to each of the next twenty-five a due bill for $25 will be issued. These due bills will be accepted as so much paid on any new Piano in our stock. The balance can be arranged for on our easy payment plan if required.

PROGRESS IS OUR MOTTO, AND IT APPLIES TO BUYING AS WELL AS SELLING.

NO PERSON OR FAMILY WILL BE PERMITTED TO SUBMIT MORE THAN ONE REPLY.

With our increased facilities, and with a stock of Pianos superior in quality, and magnitude to anything in Alberta, and second to none in Canada, we are in a position to serve our customers better than ever before. HENCE THIS IS THE APPOINTED TIME TO BUY YOUR PIANO.

CONTEST WILL CLOSE THURSDAY, MARCH 31ST. All replies must reach our store by that time. Be sure and write your Name and Address plainly.

A pretty schoolman once taught school in a Long Island village. All the young fellows for miles around were mad about her, but the schoolman was proud and none of the boys seemed to stand the ghost of a chance.

Young Jim Brown, the judge's son, was the best-looking chap in town, and probably loved the schoolman more than any of her other swains, but he never had the pluck to declare himself.

One day the schoolman came on a visit to New York state, Jim asked the editor of the paper to write an announcement of his forthcoming marriage in his society column. It would cost him only fifty cents.

So Jim inserted an announcement to the effect that his honeymoon at Atlantic City. A short time after the announcement appeared the schoolman came back home. Jim heard on all sides how furious she was. For several days he kept away from her. Then, one afternoon, as she was coming home from school, he ran plump into her in the lane.

She let him know at once what she thought of him and his outrageous conduct. She stormed and raged and her pretty eyes flashed fire.

Jim stood first on one foot and then on the other and finally he blurted out: "Well, if you don't like it I can have the announcement cancelled."

"Oh, bother it!" said the schoolman, "it's too late now!"

Melbourne McDowell and Virginia Drew Trescott will be stock stars in St. Louis this spring.

Forbes Robertson's Chicago season in "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" will end this May.

Mildred Holland, with her own company, is to play an engagement in repertoire in New York this spring.

William Proutie has been engaged for the part of "Doctor de Luxe," in which play Ralph Herz is to star.

Frederic Thompson has changed the name of his new play from "A Child of the Desert" to "Trailing a Rainbow."

NOTICE

Waterworks Department
CITY OF EDMONTON
Owing to the fact that the Waterworks Department in the past have had considerable difficulty in collecting some of their delinquent rates they wish to bring to the notice of the owners of property the following sections of the Edmonton Charter.

Section 4, Article 12, Sub-Section 2.
The sum payable by the owner or occupant of any house, apartment, lot or part of a lot for the water supplied to him therefor for the use thereof and all rates, costs and charges by this ordinance to be collected for the same shall be water rates shall be preferred lien and charge on the house, apartment, lot or part of a lot and may be levied and collected in like manner as municipal rates and taxes are by law recoverable.

General, Section 51, Sub-Section 2.
In event of the rate remaining unpaid and unpaid and continuing a lien upon the said premises as aforesaid, the amount of the rate so in arrears shall be returned by the collectors to the secretary-treasurer of the municipality annually on or before the eighth day of April in each and every year or such other time as may be determined by the Corporation by resolution in that behalf; and the same together with interest at the rate of ten per cent. per annum thereon shall thereupon be collected by the said secretary-treasurer by sale of the lands and premises in the same manner and subject to the same provisions as in case of the sale of land for arrears of municipal taxes for the time being.

The Waterworks Department in the future will enforce the above clauses and will not take any order for the turning on or off of water from any person, except the owner or his authorized agent.

TENDERS FOR SEWER PIPE AND FITTINGS

In Kentucky is a quaint character named Ezekiel Hopkins, who once gained local fame by discovering a piece of broken railway line and warning an excursion train in time to save disaster. So it was decided to present Ezekiel with a gold watch chain.

Without the least emotion, Ezekiel ejected from his mouth a long stream of tobacco juice, took the watch from his handsome case, turned it over and over in his wrinkled hand, and finally said:

"War's the chain?"

"The girl, whose name I shall not make public, described herself as 21 years of age, fairly good looking and a first-class cook," Everett said. "She was once wedded and had a son, but I guess she changed her mind after getting my money. I've been 'bunked' and I'm going back to the ranch, but before I promise again to marry I am going to see the other party on the ground."

Frank Everett, a rancher at Chester, Wash., had a different experience with a "mail-order" bride. Following an interview with the Spokane agent of a transcontinental railroad, three weeks ago, he dispatched a fat envelope, containing a first-class ticket and sleeping-car accommodations, also $25 for meals and extras, to a woman in Kansas City, Mo. The bride-to-be was due in Spokane on March 15, but Everett did not lose faith until waiting five days, when he admitted being "stung."

"Mr. Hopkins, it is the desire of the good people of Kentucky that you shall in recognition of your valor and merit be presented with this watch, which they trust will ever remind you of their undying friendship."

BACHELORS HAVE DIFFERENT VIEWS

Answered Advertisement, One Got His "Fray" and the Other Got Stung

Spokane, Wash., Mar. 25.—When Mrs. Marie E. Gray of Akron, O., and J. E. Gray of Pottlatch, Idaho, were married in Spokane yesterday, there came to a happy culmination a modern romance that had its origin in the advertising columns of an eastern newspaper, six months ago. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. S. Willis McFadden, pastor of First Presbyterian church, in the parlors of a local hotel.

Mr. Gray, who is an expert machinist in the employ of the Pottlatch Lumber Company in northern Idaho, said that when he read the advertisement announcing that the advertiser, widowed and lonely, was tired of owning herself and wanted a manly and respectable mate, he realized his own position and lost no time in answering the appeal. After six months correspondence Mrs. Gray came to Spokane and a wedding was celebrated at the Pottlatch hotel, followed. They will make their home in the town of Pottlatch.

Frank Everett, a rancher at Chester, Wash., had a different experience with a "mail-order" bride. Following an interview with the Spokane agent of a transcontinental railroad, three weeks ago, he dispatched a fat envelope, containing a first-class ticket and sleeping-car accommodations, also $25 for meals and extras, to a woman in Kansas City, Mo. The bride-to-be was due in Spokane on March 15, but Everett did not lose faith until waiting five days, when he admitted being "stung."

"The girl, whose name I shall not make public, described herself as 21 years of age, fairly good looking and a first-class cook," Everett said. "She was once wedded and had a son, but I guess she changed her mind after getting my money. I've been 'bunked' and I'm going back to the ranch, but before I promise again to marry I am going to see the other party on the ground."

Strategically Correct

It is called Strategy; that quality which enables a successful general to place his forces so as to win his battles.

Successful Real Estate operations are governed by the same quality. If you buy property on correct strategy you win out.

Queen Mary Park is the "Key" to the battle—it is the objective point at which you should post a strong force of your dollars in order to be victorious.

The proximity of the Grand Trunk shops ensure an imperative demand for lots in Queen Mary Park. Be ready to supply this demand. It is the man who is just ahead who makes the money in Real Estate, not the man who waits till after the event.

of Adjoining Properties

We do not seek to depreciate other people's propositions, but we wish to point out the fact that in buying "Queen Mary Park" lots at our present prices you are buying below the current values.

We have made these prices low so that every time a lot is sold the purchaser knows that he has practically assured himself of a good profit when the purchase is made.

There can be no possible doubt as to the demand for this property, not only for speculative purposes, but especially for occupation by the army of Grand Trunk employees present and future, with their families.

Adjoining properties have all been sold to the East, South and West, and the individual owners of those lots are looking for prices considerably higher than the figures we are prepared to sell you lots in "Queen Mary Park."

PRESIDENT GREY FAVORS A TRIP

WANTS EDMONTON TEAM TO TRAIN AWAY FROM HOME PROVIDING GAMES CAN BE ARRANGED WITH MONTANA CITIES.

Like a true sportsman and one who is ever ready to do anything within his power to insure Edmonton a baseball pennant, Frank Grey, president of the Eskimos, has given out the word that providing games can be arranged with the Montana cities, he wants Manager Deacon White to take his braves to O'Leary for the spring training trip.

"It would be folly on our part to have the main train at O'Leary unless we could be assured of games," said President Grey this morning. "All we want is the assurance that we can get games, and if such be the case, then it will go to Idaho for the bunch of Eskimos. The directors and myself have given Manager White carte blanche in the matter of signing a team and he has the full say as to what will be done this spring. If he gives the word, we will sign the check."

While Sam Savage is playing the fox Samuel at Calgary and causing the scribes to wonder and ponder and think and guess—and worry—it can be said that Manager White has a perfect right to sit back and grin and declare that Calgary will have to go some to beat Edmonton out for the pennant. Matt Stanley is there with the goods and is well known and should land some good ball players, but that stupid individual White has placed his hooks on good material and is not losing any sleep over prospects. Mr. Savage is beset with applications for jobs and when the call is sent out for the opening of the training season it's safe to gamble that he will have not less than thirty players on the ground. And there will be some tragedy when pruning time comes along. It will certainly be a tough job for Calgary to keep within the salary limit but it's a case where Rogers and Moose Jaw will insist on it and their wishes will have to be respected as small towns are absolutely necessary to a baseball league.

LACROSSE ENTHUSIASTS TO MEET ON THURSDAY.

A. McLean, superintendent of the waterworks department, will be the big man behind the lacrosse craze the coming season. Inspired by love of the game and a patriotic desire to see that Canada's national pastime is kept booming, Mr. McLean has started a movement whereby a number of prominent citizens will give encouragement to boom lacrosse this year. Mayor Armstrong is one of the sportsmen who will put a shoulder to the wheel and he has contacted that the council chambers should be taken for a meeting of lacrosse enthusiasts next Thursday evening. It is the wish of Mr. McLean that all lovers of the game be on hand as it is desired to proceed without delay in the organization of teams.

SUNDAY TEMPERANCE MEETING.

The Pleasant Sunday Afternoon meeting at the Orpheum Theatre will be held at 4 o'clock on Sunday next. The programme provided for occasion being of an attractive and interesting character. Mr. J. A. Down will give a short temperance address. Another of those powerful temperance films will be shown, entitled "The Motherless Wait". These films have been recently imported from England specially for use in the work of the Temperance and Moral Reform League. These already shown have held the audience spellbound, and are acknowledged lessons not soon to be forgotten. The musical number will be rendered by Tally in the following solo: "I'm here are of want and sorrow." "The world is growing better." "Mr. W. M. Leonard will take the chair.

SACRED CONCERT.

The third concert by the Gilzean Band will be given to-morrow evening in the Lyceum Theatre, beginning at a quarter to nine sharp. The special offerings will be two vocal solos by Mr. H. G. Gurn, a clarinet solo by Mr. H. A. Blodgett, and the overture "Zampa" by the band.

GIVES FINE EXHIBITION.

Before a large audience, H. H. Corsan, to whom has been attached the sobriquet of "human fish," gave an interesting exhibition of fancy swimming in the Y. M. C. A. tank. To many, the fine show was a revelation in the useful sport, Mr. Corsan has a large class and is recording a splendid success.

So the second-raters appeal to the Paris police, who bar Willie from the ground that a Frenchman made wagers at the last match Willie played, which is against the law, don't know. But Walter has not signed, and he smilingly says he will not sign until the figures in his contract are a little larger. He will be in condition when the season opens, though, and when the big race starts, it is almost a cinch that he gets what he asks for. BIG ATHLETIC CLUB TO BE FORMED IN EDMONTON

BARNEY MULLIN WILL BE DIRECTOR OF ORGANIZATION WHICH IS PLANNED ON A BIG SCALE—MICHAEL RYAN TO HAVE CHARGE OF PRELIMINARY WORK—WELL KNOWN BOXER FIGURES ON HAVING EDMONTON INCLUDED IN THE PACIFIC NORTHWEST ASSOCIATION, WHICH WILL BRING BEST OF COAST TO CITY

Edmonton is to have a new athletic club.

In answer to numerous requests which have reached him within the last week from prominent citizens who are desirous of encouraging the grand old sport of the manly art of self-defence, Barney Mullin, one of the best known boxers in the west, has consented to become director of athletics for a new club which is to be organized in the immediate future.

It is expected that the new club will fill a long felt want in this city. It is proposed to have quarters fitted up elegantly, provided with all of the latest paraphernalia, and with Mr. Mullin in personal charge of affairs, there should be developed some good material in Edmonton.

"I did not come to Edmonton for the purpose of organizing a club, but to look over some land in which I became interested several years ago during one of my pleasant visits here, but I will take pleasure in devoting my efforts to encourage the higher manhood which is to be found in the wake of athletics," declared Mr. Mullin to the sporting editor of THE CAPITAL yesterday. "I have been assured on every hand of encouragement and really believe at this time that I will be compelled to have several assistants. I already have my lines out for one or two renowned physical culture exponents. Mr. Michael Ryan is here with me and I intend placing him in charge of preliminary work."

While Mr. Mullin would not declare himself on the subject, it is understood that he will make efforts to have Edmonton included in the big Western circuit which several times a year holds contests to decide the boxing championships of the Pacific Northwest. This would bring to Edmonton the crack boxers of the Coast and the best men of Seattle, Tacoma, Vancouver, Portland and Spokane would be seen in action here.

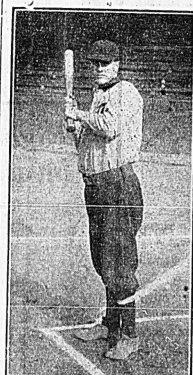

SPORTING COMMENT

About the only thing to be said for a California training trip for the big league teams is that it costs a bunch of coin. When the Red Sox got back to Boston, John I. Taylor's bank account will be fully $25,000 to the bad. Last year Comiskey sent the White Sox west, but it cost him even more. The worst thing, though, is that the trip, for some reason, fails to agree with the players—either that or a hoodoo gets hold of the whole bunch. The White Sox were completely demoralized at the start of the season last year, and now the Red Sox are but little better off.

"It is decidedly up to Johnson to take on some of the numerous heavyweights who are ready to fight him, or to announce his retirement and gracefully withdraw from the limelight which has been centered upon him since that affair at Reno," says Hugh McIntosh, who is promoting in London, with Jimmy Britt. It looks to us that it is up to Mr. Johnson to nose his big racer through the crowded San Francisco streets at top speed, and to carve juicy headlines at his cottage on the beach. For that is what Jack likes to do and what he probably will do as long as he has money. Mr. McIntosh to the contrary, notwithstanding. To give Jack his dues, though, it must be admitted that he is a pretty level-headed in the financial end of the game, and public clamor nor fearful entreaties of matchmakers don't make half as loud a noise in Jack's ear as does something that is going inside his stomach or a new type of racing car.

They have some sad sports, over in Ex. Par. They also have one or two billiardists, who can win a match now and then, provided their opponent isn't Willie Hoppe, the boy marvel. KNOCK OUT BROWN IS TO REST TWO MONTHS

"Knockout" Brown is not going to fight again for two months. This decision was arrived at by his manager, Harry Morgan, after he had been advised to give Greener and Prof. Taylor to give the little fighter a rest for at least eight weeks. Both physicians saw Brown so through his boxing stunt with his head, that he was not fit to fight. They found that Brown is still a sick boy, and then gave Manager Morgan advice not to let Brown fight for two months. Brown has a "tin ear," which will be sore for a few weeks. Dr. Greener has performed a slight operation on it.

POLICE NOW HAVE ANOTHER ATHLETE

P. S. BUDDO, FORMERLY OF MONTREAL, RELIED UPON TO ADD STRENGTH TO FORMIDABLE ARRAY PRESENTED BY BOBBIES OF EDMONTON.

That formidable competitor for amateur athletic honors, the Edmonton City Police Department, has just been strengthened by the addition to the staff of P. S. Buddo, a Montreal athlete who has been engaged as assistant to H. English, magistrate's clerk, and the forthcoming season promises to develop a keener contest for athletic laurels in Edmonton and Alberta, than has been known since the Amateur Association was organized.

Buddo comes to Edmonton with a reputation of the first water, not only as one of the foremost short distance runners in the amateur association of Montreal, but also as an athlete distinguished in all Canadian events.

Three years ago he won the half-mile Canadian championship, thereby becoming entitled to represent Canada at the Olympic games. Two years ago he came third in the half-mile in the Canadian championship, his time being 1 minute and 58 seconds, as compared with the winner's time of 1 minute and 55 seconds. Melinda Shepherd was the winner in this race, and finishing came in second. It was one of the closest finishes that has been known in all Canada half-mile events.

For three years, Mr. Buddo held the quarter-mile and half-mile snowshoeing championship of the Dominion. In the years 1907, 1908 and 1909, he held the championship in this event, but an injured knee cap prevented his entering the field for this event this year.

In the meets held under the auspices of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association last year, Buddo took first in the 100 yards, the 220 and the quarter-mile. His time for the 100 yards was 10 1-5 seconds, for the 220, 22 4-5, and for the quarter-mile, 50 1-5.

WILL WEIGH IN AT 110

Johnny Coulon and Harry Forbes, who will meet at Kenosha, Wis., will weigh in at 116 pounds at 6 o'clock on the night of March 28.

HARVARD SPORTS EXPENSIVE

Sports at Harvard cost approximately $425 a day, according to figures that have just been made public. The total cost of all sports for the 10 months' season is nearly $150,000, of which over $30,000 goes for football, an average of $1,000 for each member of the squad.

IN THE GREAT AUTO WORLD OF THE AUTOMOBILE

Buy a Complete Motor Car—don't Buy Parts

This monogram on the radiator stands for all you can ask in a motor car.

YOU OFTEN hear the expression: "Well, such a car has a great motor in it." Just what does that mean, do you suppose? Does it mean that the motor would run a long time and show great results if it were put on a block in the experimental room? We can think of no other explanation.

Of course you can't have a good automobile without a good motor. But a motor alone won't make a good automobile, no matter how good the motor may be. Motors are designed for automobiles, not automobiles for motors.

A good automobile is a unit made up of many different and important parts, each part made of the right materials and perfectly built and tested of itself, then all assembled into their proper relations and thoroughly tested as a whole piece of machinery.

A "great" motor simply can't be great in a car that has a poor transmission, or a weak axle, or a poorly designed clutch, or a light frame, or weak wheels, or harness in materials and construction.

So-called "great motors" certainly have played hob with a lot of automobiles.

Some folks buy motors, some buy wheels, some tires, some bodies, some doors, some a certain color of paint.

Our advice is: Buy a motor car—a whole car. It doesn't cost any more.

Chalmers cars have won a good reputation for all-round service. That reputation now stands for a good motor, hung into a staunch frame, rolling on strong wheels with adequate tires, joined to a perfect clutch bearing power through a good transmission to axles that will stand every strain.

Chalmers cars will good springs, brakes, bodies, doors and colors. They have beautiful lines.

They are automobiles.

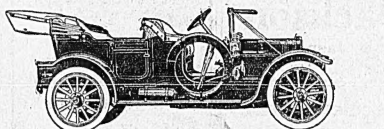

The service is guaranteed. A demonstration at your convenience.

THAT IS WHAT SPEEDY AUTO RIDE WITH FREDDY LOWES WOULD FEEL LIKE

If George Fitch was to write a story of a ride with Freddie Lowes in one of his latest racing cars, this is what it would read like:

"Sometimes, even yet when a complicated salad or a late lunch has insured within me, I dream of the time when I would half an hour for a racing automobile whose driver was trying to see how many times he could chivy it around a mile track in an hour.

"The original nightmare occurred in Calgary, in the summer of 1910. A dozen dozen drivers were participating in one of those under-the-bertha-deck known as a six-hour race, and by the time they had been sliding sideways around the turns for an hour the atmosphere was a light, lacy yellow with dust and dirt. Then he came in each direction. Freddie Lowes then in the heyday of his fame as mahout of a racing car, was leading the field by an average of five jumps and fifty-seven snorts per minute. He drove two cars—a big white Thomas racer and a still bigger touring car. He would drive the racer until it was red hot and needed new tires and a new harness, and then he would leap lightly into the touring car—and that's where the story begins.

"The racer shrieked and roared, turned corners on two wheels and threw dust like a powdery volcano. I would not have ridden in the thing a machine, a sarcophagus and a free obituary. It didn't look safe, it didn't sound safe and it didn't smell safe when it came past. But presently Freddie stopped a minute to allow the track to cool and he decided to run his strawberry blonde car awhile.

"Want to ride with him a ways?" asked one of Freddie's friends. "I said I did. I had ridden in touring cars before and did not consider them carnivorous. Freddie dashed up, leaped into the car, jammed in the clutch. He had allowed me, a pilgrim and a stranger, to crawl into that car under the impression that it was an ordinary gasoline engine, just fast enough to get home from nowhere in line for supper. He had failed absolutely to warn me that it had an engine big enough to yank a battleship backwards, a transmission geared for nearly miles an hour, a hoarse diaphragm exhaust, and a gut like a nervous young comet with cut ties to its tail.

"The big, blunt-nosed, fat-stomached touring car, with the locomotive power concealed in its thorax, started out up the track like a bull elephant breaking for tall timber. On the first jump it broke the speed limit forward. On the next jump it landed on the turn and broke it sideways. Then it settled down and began to hurdle down the back stretch like a runaway car on a mountain slide.

"The motor shrieked the wind whistled and the scenery tore in a long, blurry ribbon. It didn't seem possible that Freddie could slow up in time to make the lower turn. In fact, he didn't. He just jumped on more speed and went around sideways, the car creaking for a foothold in the rutty track like a cat on a tree, then we put on full organ and shot down the back stretch. The grandstand moved past us to the rear as if it had been on rollers. It was the first time I ever seen a grandstand in motion, and it was very interesting.

"The car was now travelling faster than anything on earth had ever travelled before. The motor zipped like a rattling gun and the landscape reeled around like a panorama on a pivot.

"It was frightfully lonesome alone in that vast and isolated tundra. I had lost my bearings and rattled from side to side like a dried pea in a wash boiler. Then it occurred to me that perhaps Freddie didn't really want to go that fast, but considered it necessary to risk his neck to please me.

"Leaving over the front seat, I roared into his car, as far as I was concerned, he could slow down. "Too slow!" said he, turning around and smiling a white flash in his dirt-covered face. "Just wait, a minute. She's beginning to pick up. Then he jerked the throttle open some more.

The saloon had misunderstood.

"Shades of Phobos Apollo! What we had been doing before was just a measly crawl. With a soul-jarring jerk the car leaped forward and reached forward into the unknown. Something took me by the face and pushed me back into the seat. It was the wind. Something lifted me up and flattened me against the side of the tundra. That was centrifugal force on the lower turn. The scenery tossed me six feet into the air, and the tundra came up as neatly as a feller traps a ball. That was a rut on the back stretch. Something darted past us with a roar and disappeared at awful speed to the rear. That was a little Maxwell touring car running in our direction at the rate of thirty miles an hour. There were other racers on the track, too. They were also in a hurry and left vast clouds of dust behind them. We could not see the autos for the dust, but knew that another one had been passed and that it was his driver's turn to eat $150 an acre Alberta loan.

"As the old car began to warm up I realized that even then we weren't reaching the limit. The engine began to bang still more furiously. The car leaped still higher as it bounced from the rut to rut. I save up trying to count the miles by the mile post, and then gave up trying to count them by the grandstand for the simple reason that before the grandstand gave out at one end it began at the other just as a tin bucket does when it is swung around on a string by a boy. Occasionally, Freddie leaned down and oiled his car through a gasp from a gallon can. A fraction went to the cylinders. The rest went on me. In ten miles I had been lubricated enough to run a century. The clouds of dust nestled gently against the oil on my features and the perspiration, trickling down, served miniature rain on my face.

"Then presently we got to running so fast that we began eating our own dust. The bang, bang, bang of the wind blew a thousand hurricanes. We were like a thing going around and around and I was getting dizzy. From a distance the scenery decked with buildings and crowds, rose up and hurried itself at us and passed by. Even the clay I ate was red-hot.

"It was high noon in Perdition and the aviators were watching our smoke.

"We had gone 1,700 miles by actual count and had worn smooth, round tunnel through the dust clouds when Freddie shut off the racket and put on the brakes. We slowed down to lightning, then to bullet, then to express train, then to legal and finally to messenger boy speed. Then we stopped.

"Pulling my face out of the dust with great difficulty, I stepped out and held tightly to Sunny Alberta for a minute. Gradually the racket ceased to revolve. The grandstand stopped, too, and the sun had stopped chasing him self around the horizon.

"Fred was far away racing and thundering in his white shirt and his friend stood up with a smile.

"How did you like it?" he asked.

"But I would not speak to him."

"He is a loafer, that friend."

grades. Each grade will receive respectively a certain number of points per mile. Two series will be given for every water-breaker encountered on any road. Four demerits will be given for each mile of road made by the old-fashioned one-year road scraper method in which everything is pulled out of the side gutters including sticks, stones, and loose earth, and dumped into the middle of the road and left there untried.

"An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth and a life for a life," accompanied by a picture of a skull and cross bones, is the inscription printed on a high signboard which has been placed on the mountainous road between San Jose and Santa Cruz, Cal., to warn motorists that the mountaineers and farmers will no longer permit speed on the highways. The sign is posted between the towns of Los Gatos and Almaden and the town of San Jose, and is indicative of the fact that the mountaineers want to keep the roads into their own hands. The president of the Santa Clara County Automobile Club said, in discussing the difficulties between the motorists and the residents along the Santa Cruz road, that the club would willingly pay, out of its funds, the salary of a man to patrol the road and see that speeding is stopped.

"To well was the work of oiling streets and parkways was done by the board of public works at Milwaukee, Wis., last season that it will be necessary to oil the streets again this year by keeping a good grade of oil, and using the most modern methods of applying the dust layer, work that ordinarily lasts only one season will last at least two. Of the 50,000 gallons of oil purchased in 1910 about 7,500 remain for patching and bad spots.

THE CHAUFFEUR ON THE FARM
"Dear Jim," the auto driver wrote from Uncle Hiram's farm, "This rural life enraptures me—I find it full of charm. The fresh air wafts familiar sounds, the busy bees convene and hum just like the motor in my Overland main."

"The crickets with their click, click, click at night my ears accost—The noise is similar, Dear Jim, to Overland's exhaust; And when my road auto shoos the hens back into their abode, Methinks I hear an Overland chattering down the road."

"The geese that dabble in the pond cry out at early dawn, In voices that remind me of my honking auto horn; And hush's purring windmill—I find music in my ears— I close my eyes and it becomes the sound of changing gears."

The Colliers will commence practising for the coming football season this afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Second St. grounds. All football players of the respective clubs have charge of the particular new arrivals in town, are invited to come out and have a game.

REAL ESTATE BULLETIN

In the business section Central Jasper Avenue is in demand to-day with Second street and Namayo Avenue.

In the residential district Glenora, Inglewood and the Groat Estate in the west end, with H. B. Reserve, north and south of tracks, in the central, and Delton almost entirely in the west end, were in strong request.

We are busy with showing houses in the west end, and giving lists of cheap houses, both east and west, to investors, who purpose buying these with a small down payment and renting them to meet the deferred payments, a very simple scheme and one which should be very suggestive to all home-seekers.

BIG BLOW TO EDMONTON!

The richest, grandest and most important place for wonderful mineral resources, "Fort McKay" has been annexed to Saskatchewan and Calgary. The C. N. R. are pushing their line to that country through North Battleford.

But I wonder why the Edmonton people don't rise up and protest against it? Is it because there are not capable citizens to look after their own interests?

Read this very carefully: C.P.R., C.N.R., and G.T.P. are putting lines from Battleford to Calgary. This is the latest news I have heard.

Calgary has business people at its head, Calgary has a great number of parliamentary members to look after its own interest, Calgary was not able to put its plans into execution while the Premier of Alberta was an Edmontonian. That is why Hon. A. C. Rutherford has been driven out from his post. Every good citizen was against his policy on the A. & G. W. R. without any justification, for the opposition to Edmonton has managed to blind our eyes. Is there any one in this town who does not regret this action? Don't you see now that Calgary has been the promoter of this scheme? I am not interested in real estate in this town, but I am one of Edmonton's good citizens. My interests are lying in the North, and as long as there are transportation facilities for my numerous partners the shareholders of my company and myself, it is all the same.

Fort McKay has been closely watched by the most important prospectors who have been in the North. We have been successful in securing the richest spot of 1920 acres. We have millions and millions of tons of Asphalt to be taken out, with the very best indications of oil yet seen in any oil fields in the world. How many people have gained fortunes in the oil business? There is no need to say. But not one of you can comprehend the wealth that can be realized in Asphalt. Here is an example that will make you sit up and take notice: California today is manufacturing Asphalt from its crude oil. Why are they doing this if the Oil was richer than the Asphalt? To manufacture this they have been obliged to go into enormous expenses to put up refineries and their cost price of a ton is $12.25, our cost will be about one dollar a ton. Can any one compete with our proposition?

I have been very successful in every enterprise I have undertaken in this town and I am too well known to go into unprofitable schemes. The railways are going North, take my advice and buy as much as you can afford. One Dollar a share on easy payments. All indications are that there will be a sharp advance on this price in the near future so you should subscribe quickly or you may be too late to get stock at this price. If you do not buy before this is exhausted it is doubtful if you will have another opportunity to get any of this stock. You had better be sure than sorry. It will mean far more for you to be able to rejoice with us, as one of the stockholders when we reach our dividend earning stage than to regret that you were not far sighted and sagacious enough to take advantage of the offer we are making you now.

You don't lose anything by calling at our office and seeing our beautiful samples as well as the reports of the government of Interior at Ottawa about our grounds.

Brucker Tells of Proposed Airtrip Across Atlantic

HE SAYS 'T' WAS AS FAR BACK AS 1909, WHEN HE FIRST CONCEIVED PLAN—DETAILS OF PLANS FOR CARRYING OUT THE PROJECT—WELLMAN FAILED

Berlin, March 25.—Herr Joseph Brucker, the originator of a new and daring scheme to sail across the Atlantic ocean in an airship, makes the following statement of his detail of plans for carrying out the project which the American, Walter Wellman, disastrously failed to achieve.

"It was in February, 1909, that I suddenly conceived the idea of traversing the Atlantic ocean by airship. It was Washington's birthday and the whole country was celebrating the event, and I had been reading the reports of Wilbur Wright's remarkable aeroplane flights in France.

"I asked myself why the Atlantic ocean should not be crossed, not by a heavier-than-air aeroplane, but by a lighter-than-air airship. I had long studied meteorology, so that was not difficult for me to choose a route, along which, all the year round, east winds blow towards Central America and where the navigators need not fear either fog or thunderstorm. The Spanish name that belt of the Atlantic ocean 'The Sea of the Lizards,' because it is usually so calm there that a weak swimmer could steer a boat. Columbus with his small vessels, could never have reached America, if he had not sailed along this route of favorable winds and currents.

"I returned to Europe and spent three months at the International Aeronautical exposition at Frankfurt-on-Main, where I had an excellent opportunity of studying all sorts of types of aerial craft, and of conversing with many distinguished experts on aerial navigation. These exhaustive studies, combined with the advice given to me by practical aeronauts, led to the conviction that a fleet across the Atlantic ocean by the favorable route I had in view was well within the bounds of possibility.

Two Purposes Served

"From the outset, I intended to replace the usual car, suspended from gas-bag of the balloon, by a motor boat which while suspended in the air, would serve the purposes of an ordinary motor boat, while possessing all the necessary qualities for navigation on the surface of the water.

"This motor boat will be equipped with two powerful motors, each of which will develop 400 h. p., and which in the air the vessel will be propelled by these engines, which will be equally capable of propelling the detached motor boat if we should find it necessary to cut it loose from the gas-bag. The motor boat is 33 feet in length and ten feet in beam and has been constructed in accordance with my own plans in such a way that it will be most serviceable for the purpose in view.

"At Frankfurt-on-Main it was also necessary for me to find a financier for my project, and it was natural that I should first apply to the originator of the aeronautical expedition there, Dr. Gago-Fabrice, whose time as an expert in all matters pertaining to aerial navigation has spread far beyond the boundaries of his own country. It took me many weeks to convince him that my project was feasible, but ultimately he came to the same conclusion and promised me his full support.

"Several more months passed before the necessary funds for my transatlantic flight were provided and vested in the control of a committee, with Dr. Gago-Fabrice as chairman, and several prominent social and financial men as members.

"In making the preliminary preparations for the flight, I was most warmly supported by several meteorological authorities, particularly by Professor Julius Hann, of Vienna, and Professor Wilhelm Köppen, of Bonn, who confirmed in every respect my contention that the first flight across the Atlantic will have to be accomplished

LLOYDS, 100 YEARS OLD, EVER READY TO TAKE CHANCE

Their Insurance of Mrs. Drummond's Stolen Jewels Brings Them Again in Limelight

New York, Mar. 25.—The announcement that the pearl necklace, diamonds and jewellery of Mrs. Baldwin Drummond, valued at $100,000, stolen from her stateroom on the Hamburg America, were insured by Lloyds of London, which will be about $100,000 in case the missing gems do not turn up, recalls the chances that this organization takes on all manner of insurance.

Lloyds is not an insurance company as the term is known here. It is an association of individuals who are prepared to accept reactively any risk the various members, or groups of them, taking the chance, each according to his own views and the association itself not in any way assuming responsibility for the individual risks. Gradually the organization has developed only marine insurance. In the days of the Georges the owner of a vessel would go to Lloyds' Coffee in Alchurh lane and his fellow merchants would sign their names under the policy and opposite the amount which each was prepared to pay in case of shipwreck. Hence the term "Underwriters."

"Any Old Risk" at a Price.

Gradually the underwriting custom began to be applied to risks other than marine, and the speculative habit was developed. To-day, like the old underwriters, the various members are willing to consider "any old risk" and will accept almost any at a price.

The various forms of threat insurance that Lloyds have induced in have kept its name in the public eye as much as anything. England, of course, has long been accustomed to it, but it was such insurance as policies against Black Hand outrages, taken out two years ago, and the losses resulting from possible strikes, that have brought Lloyds into the limelight. In the case of the present Lloyds' gamble on the fate of Napoleon, the policy was for one month at three per cent. This would be an ordinary risk-to-day for the policies on the lives of threatened monarchs are almost as common as policies upon delayed ships.

Everybody remembers how in 1902 Lloyds took a big chance as to whether Edward VII. would live long enough to be crowned King of Great Britain and Ireland and Emperor of India. Many men in Britain carry insurance all the year round on the life of the King. Some Wall Street speculators, it is said, make it a practice to carry insurance on the life of the President because of the probable market upheaval that would follow the sudden death of the head of the nation.

Wars and the lives of crowned heads have always been the earliest source of Lloyds' policies outside of its legitimate business of marine insurance. During the period of continental disturbance in Europe between 1792 and 1815 not a cargo went to sea that was not insured against capture, and during the more recent Japanese-Russian conflict the shipments of contraband to both parties were inevitably insured at Lloyds.

Elephant Insurance.

Policies on the safety of valuable animals are common, elephant insurance especially being quite usual. One of the largest animal policies was on the life of the great Jumbo when he was brought to New York on a steamship.

Horses, too, are often insured at Lloyds. Nearly every stallion of importance on the Kentucky breeding farms is insured, and still a few years ago many race horses in England were insured, but a succession of losses caused an advance of premiums to virtually a prohibitive figure. The final blow came when J. B. Rose, of Highbury, broke his leg in a race and

"Consumption"

Three Doctors Attended Her. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup Cured Her.

It has long been known that the balsamic odor of the newly cut pine tree bark and its properties the lungs and consumptives improve and revive amid the perfume of the resin. Since but few are acquainted the luxury of a visit to the pines, it will be good news to many to know that the essential healing principle of the pine has been separated, and refined, and combined with other absorbent, expectorant and soothing materials of refined words in the manufacture of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Mrs. Charlie McDermott, Baltimore, Md., writes: "I thought I would write and let you know the benefit I have received through the use of your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Three years ago I had Consumption and had three doctors attending me, and they were very much alarmed about my condition. I was so weak and miserable I could not do my housework. While looking through your B. B. R. Almanac I saw that Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup was good for weak lungs so I got a bottle and after taking one bottle I was completely cured. At that time I weighed 135 pounds and now weigh 172.5 a gain of 37 pounds in three years. I now sleep in the house all the time and would not be without it for anything as I owe my life to it."

had to be destroyed. He was insured for a very large amount.

Back deposits are often insured, and the Prince of Wales' jubilee stamps were insured at Lloyds, a prominent firm of underwriters guaranteeing that the issue would be successful. It was an odd risk, but the insurance of a glass bed packed in twenty cases and shipped to an Eastern ruler. One case was damaged and the underwriter had to pay in full. Gate money for cricket and football matches have also been insured, and a lot of money is made out of the varieties of the weather. Lloyds have large sums right along that it is no guide to rain on a certain day.

At the time of King Edward's coronation Lloyds' insured stand owners, decorators and florists, and lost, it is estimated, at least a million dollars in the postponement of the ceremony. On the other hand, the underwriters insured Queen Victoria's jubilee and her diamond jubilee, and as both took place according to schedule they made money on the outcome.

Padreswaki on his concert tours takes out half a dozen different kinds of insurances, accident and health, and a separate policy on his fingers. Kublik, the violinist, also keeps his fingers insured, and Caruso and other grand opera stars carry insurance against colds and other malaises.

THE PESSIMIST

(Museum Spectator)

Of all the cranks, the crankiest is the chronic pessimist. He is always staring like a Vaudeville dog with a tin can tied to his tail. When the sky is beautiful clear, he is positively certain that everything will dry up and there will be a scarcity. When the gentle rain begins to fall, he laments and is afraid the crops will be spoiled. He is always expecting some great misfortune of some kind, or being laid up with rheumatism. No matter how rosy the apples look or how juicy the pears, he is afraid they are wormy at the core and can't be kept till Christmas. The country is going to the dogs and everybody is a dirty and dishonest rascal. His own peaceful and progressive town is alright, but he is convinced that it will never improve, so very much. The big church spire is a horrible landmark, but it will fall down some day and do great damage. He himself enjoys excellent health at present but he is sure that he won't live long—and he shouldn't. The world would much happier without such cranky pessimists.

The French fishermen who man the St. Pierre fleet on the Grand Banks are engaged for shares in the catch instead of regular wages.

BOARD OF CENSORS TO PASS ON MOVING PICTURE FILMS

UNIFORMITY IS SECURED—STRICT REGULATIONS
REGARDING CHILDREN ATTENDING MOVING PICTURE SHOWS.

Toronto, March 18.—Complaints that have been made in the past as to the character of some of the moving picture films that have been exhibited in this province and the rapid increase in the number of the theatres, have resulted in the government taking them all under its control and passing regulations governing the exhibition of the pictures in all parts of the province. Uniformity is secured in a bill introduced yesterday by the Hon. A. J. Macdonald, provincial treasurer, by the appointment of a board of censors of three persons whose duty it will be to pass upon all the moving pictures before they are publicly exhibited at any place in Ontario. This board is required to fix a stamp upon the films in such a way that it will be visible when they are first shown upon the canvas. They have power also to prohibit or reject any picture which would be the license of any operator. Provision will be made for an appeal from this board to some other body, and it will be afterwards designated. The government has authority to impose licenses and make regulations for the issue and operating the moving picture machines. This includes the conditions under which the machines may be operated, the licensing of film exchanges, and the examination of films. No moving picture machine can be operated without a license, and all must bear the stamp of the board of censors. Interference by local police officers is forbidden. If the stamp is on the film, the municipalities are forbidden to issue licenses to any operator unless he produced his provincial license, and any municipal officer who does so is liable to a fine of $20 and costs or 30 days in jail. The provincial police have the right to inspect all moving picture theatres, to enforce the provisions of the act, and to incorporate municipalities the chief of police is made responsible for this work.

In case of bodily injury or loss of life, due to the breach of these regulations, the owner, lessee, manager or operator who is responsible, is liable in addition to any other penalty, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year. The penalty for violation of the act is a fine of not less than $50 and not more than $200, and an additional fine of $25 a day so long as the offence continues.

One of the most important clauses relates to children. No child under fifteen years of age, unless accompanied by an adult, is permitted to attend a moving picture show where there is an admission fee. This act comes into force on the first of June next.

Mentally Deficient Children.
As a result of the investigations which have been carried on in behalf of the Provincial Secretary's Department by Dr. Helen McMurphy, a government bill was introduced by the minister of education yesterday for the establishment of special classes for mentally deficient children and the medical care of those who attend these classes. These classes include those who are backward or abnormally slow in learning, and who, from physical or mental causes, require special training and education. The report of the principal of the school, and a medical inspector will admit children to these classes.

A duly qualified medical practitioner may be employed by school board to attend these classes and special medical treatment will be given those who require it, if their parents are unable from poverty or other cause, to provide adequately for them. This inspector must, in addition, visit the children in their homes, and consult with their parents as to the conditions and treatment which will best enable them to attain to a normal state of intelligence and education. The minister will appoint the principal of the different classes, and he will prescribe a special course of study for the children in attendance at the special classes.

In introducing the bill the minister stated that its application has been made general in the various provinces, but it was doubtful if the provisions would be adopted by many cities. Important changes in the law of access from public buildings are made by a bill introduced in the legislature yesterday by the Hon. A. J. Macdonald, provincial treasurer. The responsibility of church congregations will be strictly enforced. The law declares that congregations or societies possessing corporate powers, and all trustees, incumbents, church wardens and other persons holding churches, schools or buildings used for churches or schools, shall be severally liable as trustees for the societies or congregations to see that the provision of the act are carried out. The penalty for an offence is a fine of $500, half of which goes to the informant and half to the municipality.

Indemnity Charges.
Several clauses were made in the regulations for the payment of the indemnity of $1,400 after a discussion in the house yesterday.

"We must be careful in our actions on this bill not to give an opportunity for carrying out," said the premier. He made it quite clear that the bill payment would be made this year. Mr. Stedman asked—and he is accustomed to methods in factories: "What way will the docking be done? Will we have a checking clock?" Sir James: "We will depend on the oath of each member."

Dr. Jessop: "If a member attends a committee meeting in the morning and is called away for the afternoon session?"

Sir James: "It will not be marked against him."

The deduction for non-attendance was raised from $9 to $15 a day, as the premier did not think any member ordinarily would come under this provision. Mr. Mackay wanted this increased to $25 a day, and the six days of grace increased to eight, but Sir James thought his plan the better.

An Instance Cited.
An instance in the Dominion House was introduced by Mr. Stedman, and led to a demand by the Hon. J. J. Fay that he withdraw it. He said he was not satisfied that the attendance requirement might not be gotten over very easily, as it was at Ottawa. "Take the case of Mr. Bristol. He got his full indemnity, though he was away for weeks. He said he was ill, but Mr. Lancaster said he wasn't."

Mr. Fay: "It is not fair to mention Mr. Bristol's name in this connection. It is not fair in the absence of the honorable member to make allusions, and I hope the member for East Hamilton will withdraw it."

Mr. Stedman: "I don't have to take anything back. It's public property."

Sir James (dryly): "We don't expect you to take anything back."

The reciprocity debate was continued by Mr. Hearst, Conservative, Saint John, N.B.

He declared that when Northern Ontario, particularly the iron ore district, developed, it would provide for millions of artists. He suggested to the Dominion government if they wanted new markets for the farmers to assist in the development of this new land.

There was a different song sung in the north on reciprocity. It was said by Government supporters that if the treaty passed the cost of living would be cheaper. "Yes," said Mr. Hearst, "by the Michigan farmers sending in the goods that now grow in Bruce and other Ontario farms are supplying."

The manufacture of steel rails and structural steel would languish, for the railways would not need as much and the people out west would buy

A distinguished Irish prelate was by nature a very keen sportsman, and though his tastes in this direction to interfere with his many duties, there was nothing he enjoyed more than a day's shooting.

On one of these occasions he was met by an old lady, who strongly disapproved of any members of the clerical profession, and especially one of the heads of the church, indulging in such pursuits.

"I have never read in the Bible that any of the apostles went out shooting, my lord," she observed severely.

"Well, you see," returned his lordship cheerfully, "all their spare time they spent out fishing."

HEARING OF RATE CASES.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today began a hearing of the thirteen applications filed by transcontinental railroads for relief from the operation of the long and short haul clause as amended by the new commerce law.

The new law forbids the railroads to charge a higher rate to intermediate Western points than to Pacific coast terminals where vast competition is encountered, except when the specific approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission has been obtained.

The subject is one of vital importance both to the railroads and the shippers and it is expected the arguments before the commission will consume several days.

OBJECT TO PAYING $675,000 FINE

Atlanta, Ga., Mar. 25.—United States Commissioner Colquhoun today resumed the hearing on the application of Benjamin D. Greene and John F. Gaylor for leave to take the pauper's oath and swear off the $575,000 fine, which was a part of the penalty imposed upon them for their part in the Savannah harbor frauds.

The two men have completed their prison sentences but freedom has been denied them pending the settlement of the fine. Both Greene and Gaylor contend that they are penniless, and have no money with which to pay the enormous fine.

The department of justice, on the other hand, declares its belief that the two men have large fortunes secreted and consequently should not be permitted.

It will be easy for you to select your spring suit and light overcoat if you call at Kelly & Moore's.

If you are particular to ask for Fry's. An inviting variety of especially tempting chocolates of a new kind—made in many forms from purest cocoa sugar and exquisite flavorings. Do try them. In good stores everywhere.

DR. JOSEPH FRY founded the House of Fry at Bristol, England, nearly two hundred years ago. The high quality of its products has attracted the patronage of discriminating buyers to such an extent that the works to-day employ nearly 5,000 people, the largest cocoa manufactory in the world, while the sale of Fry's Cocoa extends to all parts of the globe. The highest medical authorities in England say "There is no flaw in its claim to be absolutely pure."

The Hercules Rotary Engine Co. LIMITED

Authorized Capital $1,000,000 = In Shares of $100 Each

The principle on which the Hercules Rotary works, that of expansion with a rotary movement, is equally applicable to gasoline as to steam engines. This principle is already protected under the patent laws of Canada, United States, Great Britain, France, Germany, Belgium and Japan. It will be protected in other countries as quickly as possible, thereby giving the Company the absolute and exclusive control of the manufacture of this engine throughout the civilized world.

The Hercules Rotary Engine is destined to become the greatest automobile engine of the age. The lightness of the engine in proportion to the power developed, the easy and instantaneous reverse action, the entire absence of vibration and an engine that will start without cranking, giving four double explosions to each revolution, are features by reason of which this engine will dominate the market the moment it is offered to the trade.

The millions of dollars which are being spent annually in automobiles assures the owners of the Rotary patents enormous returns from royalties for the manufacture of this engine, for the automobile trade alone.

The proprietary rights of the Patents are vested solely and absolutely in the Hercules Rotary Engine Company, Limited and purchasers of stock offered in Edmonton at par today will enjoy pro rata the dividends which will accrue from the Royalties for the use of these rights.

The Company is offering only 250 shares at $100.00 per share, the money to be used in acquiring Patents in other countries and placing the engine on the markets of the world. A large proportion of this stock has already been sold and the balance is selling rapidly. When the block is closed out it is unlikely any more stock will be placed on the market. It is absolutely certain no more stock will be offered at par.

Now is the time to buy Stock in the Hercules Rotary Engine

STAMPING OUT THE SALE OF WHISKEY TO INDIANS

INDIAN BUREAU IS PUTTING UP AN AGGRESSIVE CAMPAIGN TO EDUCATE AND IMPROVE THE CONDITIONS OF THE RED MEN.

Washington, March 25.—Gratifying results are being obtained in the campaign the Indian bureau is waging to stamp out the sale of whiskey to the Indians, and to build up the physical conditions of the nation's wards.

For several years the Indian office has maintained a large medical field force, located at various Indian schools and reservations throughout the twenty-six states where Indians live. This force consists of one hundred and fifty-eight physicians and 114 nurses or field officers. There are maintained sixty hospitals and sanatoriums, with a total capacity of 12,000 patients. In the last year medical supplies have cost the government $45,000, and the total cost of this health work was $260,000.

"The Indian service in its health work," said Indian Commissioner Valentine today, "is not aiming merely to more effectively care for and cure those that are sick, but it is working rather to increase the vitality of the Indian race, and to establish for it a new standard for physical well-being. The principal features of the work, as it is now organized are: First, an intensive attack upon the two diseases that most seriously menace the health of the Indians—tuberculosis and tuberculosis; second, preventive work on a large scale, by means of popular education along health lines and more effective sanitary inspection; third, increased attention to the physical welfare of the children in the schools, so that the physical stamina of the coming generation may be conserved and increased."

Education to Prevent Tuberculosis. Systematic efforts are being made to educate the Indians in the schools and on the reservations, as to the best methods of treating and preventing the spread of tuberculosis, trachoma and other infectious and contagious diseases. A manual on tuberculosis, its causes, prevention and treatment, has been published by the medical officers and distributed throughout the service. A series of illustrated lectures for a traveling health exhibit are being prepared. A special physician and photographer are in the line of the health work, and in this way the entire service in the health campaign.

Increased attention is being given year ago an organization of officials to fight whiskey on the reservations was perfected. This organization consists of twelve regular assistants under a chief liquor officer, and 122 others were employed during the past year when needed. The anti-whiskey officers last year operated in twenty-one states and made 1657 arrests, caused to be brought to trial 1364 cases and secured 1605 convictions. Approximately $70,000 was obtained in fines, and 566 jail sentences imposed upon those selling whiskey to the Indians.

The anti-liquor campaign has been successful in arousing interest in the government's efforts to protect its wards from the introduction and sale of liquor. The interest was manifested in many commendatory letters from persons interested in the welfare of the Indians. On the other hand, vigorous opposition has been encountered from special interests and others who feel that their federal government should not interfere in such matters. This opposition has crystallized into the sanitary inspection of the milk supply, so far as handling it is concerned, is also being investigated.

The medical supervisor is having the schools in the service systematically inspected with special attention to sanitation, disinfection, and personal hygiene. All pupils applying for admission to a boarding school are given a thorough physical examination. If a child is found to be affected with any disease that would probably be made worse by attending school, or that would endanger the health of the other pupils, he is not admitted. Those of the reservations where the greater number of day schools are located, namely, Cheyenne River, Pine Ridge, and Rosebud, have a day school physician, who makes regular visits to each of the day schools under his supervision to look after the health of the pupils and to see that proper hygiene and sanitary conditions are maintained in the schools.

Along with the strenuous campaign to improve the Red man's health is the serious work of the Indian bureau to improve the Red man's health in the most improved modern methods.

GOULD DREAMS OWING FROM COAST-TO-COAST RAILWAY

Gould was only twenty-six years of age, but ten years under his father's careful tuition had developed his business and fighting ability to a great extent. He had inherited a craving for acquiring railroad properties and his great ambition was to own the Missouri-Pacific, which culminated in a hard fight to oust Gould but was defeated.

Incurred Harriman's Displeasure. By his decision to build the Western Pacific he again incurred the displeasure of Harriman, who believed that it would injure the interests of the Southern Pacific.

About this time considerable legislation adverse to the railroads was enacted in several of the western states and in Texas, and Gould was not equal to the situation. The stocks of his various companies were boycotted in Wall Street on account of the methods which had characterized that end of his business. Gould was now hard pressed for money. His Washash-Pittsburg terminal had been over-capitalized, and ruin seemed inevitable.

The crash came with the panic of 1907, when Gould was forced to surrender the Missouri-Pacific to the receivers. The crash came with the panic of 1907, when Gould was forced to surrender the Missouri-Pacific to the receivers. The crash came with the panic of 1907, when Gould was forced to surrender the Missouri-Pacific to the receivers.

Began New Scheme. He did not give up, however, but on the contrary began a new scheme to recuperate his properties. His first step was to gain an entrance into Pittsburg, where he did by securing control of the Wheeling and Lake Erie. He then began work on his Washash-Pittsburg terminal.

Secured Western Maryland. The next step was to secure control of the Western Maryland, which ran from Baltimore, Md., and the West Virginia and Central Pittsburg which ran east from the Smoky City. Between these two roads, there was a slight gap which Mr. Gould proposed to bridge by building a new road.

With this exception the only link necessary to complete the chain of ownership from coast to coast, was that from Salt Lake City to the coast, and to complete this Mr. Gould started to build the Western Pacific.

But his troubles had already begun. The other railroad interests, recognizing the value of the Gould properties and the serious competition they would offer, had already begun a war to oust Gould as the head of the system. As early as 1902 the young financier had a severe struggle with E. H. Harriman and Edward H. Bradley for the control of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company but succeeded in winning his opponents. The Pennsylvania bitterly opposed his entrance into Pittsburg, and so bitter did this fight become, that after the creation of the Washash-Pittsburg terminal, the Pennsylvania ordered the Western Union Telegraph Co., which the Goulds control, to take down the lines east of Pittsburg, along the route of that road.

In 1905 Mr. Gould had a serious disagreement with Joseph W. Ramsey, Jr., his right hand man, and president of the Washash, which culminated in Ramsey's discharge. At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the road several weeks later, Ramsey made a hard fight to oust Gould but was defeated.

Gould Realized Weakness. Gould, however, realized the weakness of his position and agreed to present his resignation at the annual meeting of the stockholders today. An expert railroad man of wide experience will be appointed chairman of the board of directors. The retiring members of the board of directors are: Frank J. Gould, Howard Gould, Charles S. Clarke, H. B. Wesson and H. M. Galloway, all representatives of the Gould interests and their successors will be appointed by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., in the Rockefeller interests.

Mr. Gould will still have a voice in the affairs of the company but it by no means will be a dominant one. His eastern properties now in the hands of the receivers will be operated, it is said as separate companies.

MILL OPERATORS GIVEN TERRIBLE ARRAIGNMENT

SPEAKER AT NATIONAL CHILD LABOR COMMITTEE RELENTLESSLY UNCOVERS CONDITIONS AMONG CHILD WORKERS.

Birmingham, Ala., Mar. 25.—A most stirring and eloquent plea for the betterment of child labor conditions in the textile industries and a terrible arraignment of mill operators was made today by Mr. A. J. McKelway, Secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, before the members and guests of that organization who are gathered here to attend its sessions. Mr. McKelway's address went into the history of child labor from the time the Pilgrims first set up textile factories in New England to the present day, and relentlessly uncovered the conditions of ignorance, oppression and physical and mental degeneration that went hand in hand with that branch of this vast subject—child labor in the textile mills.

Horrible Conditions.
Mr. McKelway exposed his attack upon the textile interests by stating that in his opinion it was that branch of child labor industries that proved most fatal to operatives within its employ. He pictured vividly the horrible conditions under which little children, many of whom were scarcely more than babies, were obliged to toil for ten and twelve hours a day. He quoted from the report of government investigators employed by the Federal Bureau of Labor, to ascertain the real conditions of the child and woman workers in the cotton textile industry and painted in words of burning eloquence the conditions of illiteracy, mental and physical degeneration that held his hearers spell-bound by their awfulness. He charged the mill owners and operators with openly opposing and thwarting all state legislation looking toward the establishment of a working day more in keeping with the tender years and puny strength of the women and children employed in their mills.

He quoted from the government inspector's reports to show that every effort was made to hide the true conditions of the textile mill operatives from the government's inspectors and stated that "little children seven and eight years old, were discharged for a few days while the investigation was in progress. That, when caught unaware, the superintendent and owners had those little mites in out of the way places, in the hope that they would not be seen by those making the investigation." He also charged that the conditions were worse now than at the time the Pilgrims first left their native land, because their children were obliged to bear the labor of their parents "till their bodies bowed under the weight of their child labor law. It was the cotton mill men of New Orleans that resisted most bitterly the enactment of the excellent law which Louisiana has, thanks to the energy and persistence of Miss Jean Gordon. It is the cotton mill men of Texas and Arkansas that have opposed the enactment of a standard child labor law in these states, though the industry is comparatively insignificant.

High Percentage of Illiteracy.
"Perhaps the manufacturers of cotton goods, north and south, before they will agree to come before the representatives of the American people asking for practically prohibitive tariff schedules on their unfair industry will have to come with clean hands claiming so great a benefit, will in New England agree to an eight-hour day for children under 16, such as is already prescribed by law in such great manufacturing states as New York, Ohio and Illinois, and with the proper standard of legislation, will see to it that the laws are better enforced. That the cotton manufacturers of the Southern States whose lobbyists ever crowd the doors of every Southern Legislature where restriction of the child labor law is being debated, the short working day for children, the abolition of night work and the enforcement of the law. Else the representatives of the American people may withhold protection from those who deny it to the children.

Child Labor Law.
"So far as the establishment of a standard child labor law, uniform in its requirements, is concerned, it is not too much to say that except for the position of the cotton mill interests this would be a matter of speedy accomplishment. If in New England, in Pennsylvania and in the cotton manufacturing states, the principles of this standard child labor law could be agreed to it would be a matter of little trouble and short time to secure similar legislation everywhere else. So we can properly hold accountable the cotton mill industry not only for its direct oppression of childhood, but for holding back the nation itself in the matter of child labor, that they would stand together against any legislative protection for the children. If they could not feel any shame at the peculiar position in which they have put the south and hold the south in the matter of child labor, that they would at once see that this approach is removed. The individual loss would be small in any instance, even if the cotton cannot be proved that the employment of children itself is a costly matter to the business community. When, by combining all manufacturers in their various industry associations stand together against any legislative protection for the children, they not only keep enslaved the children of the cotton mill industry, numbering tens of thousands, but children of other industries where there would be no trouble with the enactment of a restrictive law, and through the backward position of the cotton mill states, these manufacturers are ready in a wholesale conspiracy against the toiling children of the whole country.

Slaughter of Innocents.
"I have called the title of this paper 'The Slaughter of Innocents.' If the employment of immature children tends to their bodily, mental and spiritual degeneracy an industry so founded upon the basis of child labor as this one can be indicted for child murder, for the slaughter of the innocents. The Herods have not been popular among the rulers of history, and if this great industry, engaged in the beneficent business of giving cheap clothing to the world is, nevertheless, guilty under the indictment, so far as its existence on American soil is concerned, it may well look forward to one of two alternatives, the reform of its child labor conditions or its destruction through economic law or legislative enactment. Already there are cries of distress being heard, pitiful pleas are being made against legislative restriction of child labor, on the ground that the industry in the south is ailing, that the cotton market is depressed, that the cotton mill industry in one year, has already occupied the eastern market. It may very well turn out to be true that with the foreign competition which the cotton mill industry in America will have increasingly to face, it will become an industry with too low a wage scale to flourish on American soil. And if refusing to be reformed, holding on to the last gasp, to its child labor system with its long hours and low wages and the defenseless condition of its workers, it is destroyed at last, on its crumbling smoke stacks which now proudly smelt their business of industry against the sky, men will write the obituary of the ancient Herods:

"They are dead, that sought the young child's life to destroy it!"

has been known for some time that there is a practically inexhaustible supply of pulpwood in abundance to immense timber reserves easily tributary to Revelstocke, and the adaptability of the location as the site for a pulp and paper mill manufacture was held in quiet observation by men acquainted with the country's resources, for a considerable time.

Employ Many Men
The addition of this plant with its subsidiary industries will mean the employment of several hundred men, and will assist Revelstocke toward the place claimed for it by its earliest settlers as the legitimate industrial centre of the interior of British Columbia. The installation of a street railway has been guaranteed. The production of this progressive scheme, which involves the expenditure of several million dollars in the city and pulp, has caused considerable local stir, and Revelstocke is appearing to look more aware than it has hitherto in its history.

SITUATION IS EXAGGERATED

No Serious Trouble is Existing in Mexico, Says W. E. Davidson, a Toronto Man.

Toronto, Mar. 25.—"The position of affairs in Mexico has been very much exaggerated and there is no serious trouble going on, at least if there are no signs of it appear as one travels through the country. All the factories are running and business appears to be going on as usual. Theatres, street cars, cafes are finding plenty of patrons, and making as much money as they can. There is really no evidence of anything unusual happening at all." That is the present Mexican situation summed up by a Toronto business man who has just returned from a trip to the country when a life and death struggle between Federalists and Insurrectors is said to be in progress. It is the opinion of Mr. W. E. Davidson, secretary of the Northwest Railway Company, the Mexican Tramways Company, and the Mexican Light and Power Company, Limited.

All is Quiet.
Mr. Davidson took his wife with him and he says he never lost an hour's sleep. He insists that all was quiet in the streets, that the reports from Mexico appearing in the United States papers have been over-colored and overstated.

"The cause of the whole trouble is this," continued Mr. Davidson. "A few of these irreconcilables, who are satisfied with nothing and are willing to settle down under good government started out, and every Tom, Dick and Harry said: 'Here is a good chance for me to rob my neighbor,' and so they got busy. The government replied by sending out police from the towns to the affected districts and this gave the rabble chance to start plundering and making trouble in those towns from which the police had been withdrawn. It was not a square fight, because the soldiers were mounted, properly armed and in uniform and the others were just well-hooded men, men who don't make a habit of working, but are ready for a scuffle any time."

Hugh L. Nicholls, the new lieutenant governor of Ohio, was formerly chairman of the Democratic State executive committee and in that position directed the campaign which resulted in the election of Judson Harmon as governor. He is prominent as a lawyer and served one term in the Ohio Legislature. Mr. Nicholls is an expert tennis player and an enthusiastic baseball fan.

The extra session of Congress men a loss of nearly $10,000 to Representative Champ Clark of Missouri. Mr. Clark had signed contracts for ten weeks on the Chautauque lecture circuit at $900 a week and expenses. The extra session forced him to cancel his engagements.

GREAT NEW YEAR WHITE DOG SACRIFICE

long speeches, and finally, when the great festival is ended, they will depart for their homes in as orderly and law abiding manner as possible. There is no cursing, no drinking, no noisy hoodlums, such as is frequently a respectable feature amongst the Christianized tribes living at the very doors of the pagan portions of the continent of Ontario, or the nearer cities of Hamilton and Brantford, come of the white dog sacrifice. Those who do, are scandalized at such "Paganism" should be permitted to exist in the very heart of Ontario. And, still—if the citizens could attend one of the festivals, could know of the law abiding lives, the consistent faith, and the simple devotion of the Omishas, it would open their eyes to the beauty of an ancient belief that has wrought for its followers nothing but good.

The last time I attended the "white sacrifice," we had in our party a representative "Indianologist," who, the year he died, was president of the American Association of Scientists, and we were also accompanied by a very scholarly young priest from Quebec. As we entered the sacrificial lodge, and this invocation to the Great Spirit was intoned to him, Father Francis moved his hat and stood bare-headed through the half-hour it took for the burning of the dog. I was a young married at the time, and afterwards I remarked to the priest on his action, and added:

"Father, I am so glad the pagan rite so impressed you."
"Pagan?" he answered, "are those devoted Indian children—pagans?" I wish that half my congregation were as close to real Christianity as those people who put up that prayer we heard an hour ago."

NEARLY 65,000,000 PEOPLE IN THE GERMAN EMPIRE

Census Just Completed Shows Three-Quarters of a Million More

Berlin, Mar. 25.—The provisional results of the imperial census held on the night of Dec. 1 last year are now officially published. The total for the empire is 64,896,881, of whom nearly three-quarters of a million are females in excess of males; but the remarkable thing is that each of the last three quinquennial periods shows an increase in the whole empire of over four million souls in the year preceding it. At this rate, supposing it to be maintained, the population of Germany in twenty-five years will be about 100 millions.

Representative Charles B. Dandell of the Fourth District of Texas has announced his candidacy for the nomination for United States senator in opposition to Joseph W. Bailey, whose term will expire in 1913.

STUDYING HUMAN NATURE AT WASHINGTON PARK

was in communication with the Most High. During the night he received revelations which enabled him to foretell the future. These telegrams, as he chose to call his prophecies, were printed and after his discourse were distributed amongst the crowds. Close to "He of the heavenly telegrams" an "orator" whom the crowd nicknamed "Grassie Hawk," was loudly proclaiming the great doctrine of spiritualism. Granite constantly communicated with the departed, but the spirits of the lowly McKelway, Lincoln and other great men were his constant companions and advisers.

Then came some lesser lights, while directly in the centre of the line and acting as sort of a pivot a suffragette with dishevelled hair and outstretched arms was relating in dervish tones some of the history that man had made. While it might be true men who we men must admit is none too flattering. While in the middle of her performance she fell to the ground. After the commotion was over and she was carried away in an ambulance, one of the "orators" sarcastically remarked: "While it might be true men didn't know much about running the world they had women beaten by a Salt Lake City block."

We will now pass to one who claimed that the most man could ever know was the half of anything. "How do you know when you know the half without knowing the whole?" asked one in the crowd. The speaker evidently never thought of this and being unable to answer was hooted from his platform.

Then followed more lesser lights till we came to the Socialist, who denounced present conditions and asserted that Socialism would rich matters and place the world on a proper and just basis. His mission was around the Socialist speaker gathered the largest crowd.

At the end of the line stood a most remarkable man. With dishevelled hair and a wild look, he frowned upon all the other "orators," and it is to be wondered at when one considers that he claimed to be the "Christ." "I can," he asserted, "project my body through the air." "Project a solid mass if I only choose." "Project your body through the library," called out a bystander. While I was there he did not project. He also claimed that he could extend himself around the world if there was someone at the other side equal with himself. The reader will readily understand that he being the only one capable to perform this marvellous feat would not occur very often. It felt would be surprising to know that this man had a following—men who actually believed in his claims.

And thus it is, night after night, Sunday after Sunday, that these cranks believe in their baroque, each one believing that he or she has the panacea for all human ills. Meanwhile the roar of the great metropolis goes on.
